

THE CULTURAL ADVOCACY PROJECT

Hello!

Would you like to join a community based peer support group to connect with people from your cultural background who have similar experiences as you? Or perhaps you wish to share and learn new strategies to help deal with difficult situations, and be in a space that is warm and encouraging during challenging and rewarding times?

If so, the peer support groups developed through the Cultural Advocacy Project are available to you, offering free access to a supportive network which enables those who attend to be around like-minded people to talk as much or as little as they want. A space where you can safely ask questions and share your thoughts and experiences.

Peer Support Means

You are not alone!

Who is the Peer Support Group For?

The peer support groups are for those aged 18 or above who are from the African-Caribbean and Bangladeshi communities in Camden.

Where is it held?

We hold several peer support groups across Camden in partnership with your local community organisation. Contact details for these services can be found opposite. We hope to see you there!
